

My husband and I have been affiliated with Quixtar for almost 5 years. In that entire time we have continually been impressed with the organization on many levels. They have shown tremendous generosity to their communities and throughout the world. In addition, they have a proven commitment to high standards of excellence in the products they distribute and the business partners they affiliate with. They have fought long and hard over the years to be sure that the principles and integrity that the corporation was founded on is protected and maintained in every aspect of their business.

We have never seen or heard an indication anywhere that this opportunity is a way to “get rich quick”. No promises or guarantees are ever made. It is, however, clearly evident that with the business principles they believe in – and with hard work on the part of the IBO’s - financial success is a distinct possibility.

There is never a risk involved in an individual’s affiliation with the Quixtar Corporation. After they register, an IBO can receive their money back within 30 days if they decide to cancel. No questions asked. Products can always be returned (even if they have been opened and used) without question if not satisfied.

Our team strongly urges the people we contact to do their due diligence. We are proud of this tremendous organization that we are affiliated with through Quixtar. Is this opportunity for everyone? No – nothing is. It is, however, a perfect example of how free enterprise works.

There will always be people looking for that “get rich quick scheme”. Consequently, there will always be other people out there preying on that frailty. As an Independent Business Owner in the Quixtar Corporation, I applaud the FTC’s plans to protect innocent consumers from schemes and frauds that they may fall victim to. I do also hope that the government does its due diligence. I also pray that in its zeal to correct the damage being done by the charlatans in the industry, the free enterprise opportunity afforded to anyone that is looking for it through an affiliation with Quixtar is not sacrificed in the process.
